

LYRICS

IN THE FARAWAY

Lyrics: Archontoula Alexandropoulou

After that day
I hear about you exclusively
in breaking dreams

they are like breaking news
for people
meant to be heard
only by me.
only by me.

In Breaking Dreams
I hear you're living
in a stone tower
by the sea,
in a stone tower
by the sea,.

Alone, with nothing
lonely without us
yet in your world
lost and serene.
lost and serene.

Cold in some cases
sad in others
the dreams support me
or get me drained.

In Breaking Dreams
you're reaching for me
After that day
you died on me.
After that day
you died on me.
you died on me.

FOLLY

Lyrics: Archontoula Alexandropoulou

Day and night, day and night waiting for truth to come out.

Day and night waiting
And one night truth came out.

out of the blue, to make the waiting,
a fallacy, concealed in day and night.

out of the blue, to make the waiting,
a fallacy, concealed in day and night.

WAKE UP, HUMAN

Lyrics: Konstantin Samson

Poverty, hunger, and pestilence.

Wars, uprisings, and cataclysms.

The world is at a standstill—it can go no further;

Something must be done, before it is destroyed.

Something must be done, before it is destroyed.

Wake up, human—the wretched politicians are fooling you;

Wake up, human—the corrupt judges are betraying you;

Wake up, human—the usurious bankers are taking your home;

Wake up, human—cretinous puppets are stealing your future.

Wake up, human—cretinous puppets are stealing your future.

Wake up, at last, and claim

what belongs to you and what should be yours;

do not let them steal your life,

do not let them steal your future—

the future of your children.

the future of your children.

Wake up, human—the wretched politicians are fooling you;

Wake up, human—the corrupt judges are betraying you;

Wake up, human—the usurious bankers are taking your home;

Wake up, human—cretinous puppets are stealing your future.

Wake up, human—cretinous puppets are stealing your future.

I WITHDRAW ALL MY FEELINGS

Lyrics: Tijana Statkic

I withdraw all my feelings
I turn my back and there is no turning back
They were beautiful lies,
Filled with guilt and charm
Think one thing and tell me another Everything that wasn't seen back then

In the whole story, there is only one villain
It's no longer the same, everything has changed
All that was bad won over the good
And that good was a fine illusion
And only naive children believe in that
And only naive children believe in that

Is clear now that it has crawled out
The lie isn't to blame for anything either
It only covered the truth for a long time
Nor is the truth any culprit
This is not the end, it isn't over yet,
When even the very beginning never existed
never existed

In the whole story, there is only one villain
It's no longer the same, everything has changed
All that was bad won over the good
And that good was a fine illusion
And only naive children believe in that
And only naive children believe in that

STOLEN WINTER

Lyrics: Archontoula Alexandropoulou

Death has seized my precious winter
And has scythed snowflakes to splinter,
Dragged me down to Pluto's furnace,
Burning icy bliss with menace.

Ruthless Malady sets forts on fire,
Plundering my Life's desire.
Winter turned to frozen Wasteland,
My life-source slaughtered at waistband.

Before I die
All souls will revel!
The Light of Life
All Dark will bevel!

I will avenge my stolen heartstrings
Defuse the storms of cancer's offsprings Begone, you beastly cursed Feasters, plundering winters and death-wrought Easters.

My shield of Light will scatter darkness,
Flood all despair in gleaming sharpness.
My blazing sword will restore kindness,
Laughter and love devour madness.

Before I die
All souls will revel!
The Light of Life
All Dark will bevel!